Message from the Principal...

Aloha,

In the past few months, Saint Anthony Jr. Sr. High School sent 39 young men and women out into the world as graduates and welcomed about 500 alumni, family, and friends, back to its campus for the Ho'olaulea.

Our new graduates eagerly face the future with their hopes and dreams, and will take on the many challenges that life has in store for them. They have been given the skills needed to be successful, as well as instilled with values of our Marianist tradition. We look forward to their adventures and will continue to support them in their journeys.

Our journey at Saint Anthony has taken many detours, but the destination and goals are the same. We want to continue to give our students “a quality education in a Christian environment.” We have caring teachers, staff, and administrators, who are working diligently to provide the quality education that our students need and deserve. Bishop Larry Silva and the Hawaii Catholic Schools continue to support our endeavors.

Quality education comes at a big price. We are blessed to have Fr. Jim Orsini Principal Emeritus and Development Director Kathleen DeLima, work on behalf of our students and school community. They have a monumental task ahead of them, but one that can be accomplished with your kokua.

Fr. Jim is just one of the illustrious principals that I follow. I humbly ask your prayers as I journey down this path. With God's help, I will do my best in this new role as Principal and, as always, our students will come first. Please contact me with your comments or concerns.

Thank you for supporting our Saint Anthony Jr. Sr. High School community.

Aloha Pumehana,
Patricia Rickard

Aloha kakou from Father James Orsini

Since many alumni have moved away from Maui for school, work or other family reasons, many SAS grads may not have heard about the recent change in administration here at the school. In past newsletters, I wrote to you using the title "Principal" --- now you'll have to switch to my new title : Principal Emeritus. For those who didn't take Latin, that title can be simply translated as Retired Principal. Since July 1st, I have officially become a volunteer and Mrs. Patricia Rickard has accepted the title and responsibility of the Office of Principal.

Many of you will already be familiar with Mrs. Rickard; all of us here are delighted that she has agreed to lead us into the future, especially during these difficult economic times. I have offered to help both Mrs. Rickard and Kathleen DeLima, our Development Director to build a stronger relationship with you, our alumni, and with the community-at-large. I promise that you will be hearing from me within a few weeks since one of our immediate objectives is to search out thousands of "missing" alumni and confirm our contacts with those on our mailing list. Meanwhile, you can keep up to date with all the school activities and news by logging on to our wonderful website : www.sasmaui.org. Don't forget to click on the "ALUMNI" tab on the left side of the opening page. We will asking you for updates and news to share with your classmates and friends who are now scattered around the world !

Now that I'm "retired," I look forward to meeting personally with more and more of you, especially the classes that are celebrating anniversaries. You don't have to wait for me to contact you; you can contact me via email at jorsini@sasmaui.org . A hui hou !

Class Tidbits

Class of 1945 celebrates 65th reunion in June, 2010

Barcheski sisters do well at Western Washington University

Sasha Leinani Barcheski, Class of 2006, received her undergraduate degree in Accounting at Western Washington University in June of this year. After being accepted into the accelerated Masters program at the same University, she is scheduled to graduate with her Masters degree in Business Administration with an Accounting emphasis in June of 2011. Western Washington University is a liberal arts university located in Bellingham, Washington with an annual enrollment of approximately 14,000 students.

Kristen Lehua Barcheski, Class of 2008, was selected in June of 2010, as 1 of 12 new students accepted into the School of Industrial Design at Western Washington University. As an incoming Junior, she is the youngest student to be accepted into the program in recent memory. The School of Industrial Design is a bachelor of science degree program that prepares graduates to work as practicing designers in corporate, consulting, or entrepreneurial positions.
